Title: Book Series No. 21
Year 2002
Author: Francis R. Owino (ed.)
Speaking African: African Languages for Education and Development
Speaking African: African Languages for Education and Development provides answers to some language issues in Africa and raises controversies for further research. Some of these should preoccupy social scientists for some time to come. The text will be invaluable to students of linguistics, history, anthropology, political science and the general reader interested in language policy, language planning and language rights.

Cost: 246.24
