As part of its faculty recruitment program to reduce the fulltime/part-time faculty ratio, faculty-student ratio and the faculty workload ratio to enhance research, as well as cater for new academic programs, the University aimed to recruit 22 faculty for the 2018-2019 academic year.

How to easily achieve your goals

The common mistake we make when setting goals is we set a deadline, but not a schedule. We focus on the end result that we want to achieve and the deadline we want to do it by.

USIU-Africa film wins a Prestigious Award at Kalasha

USIU-Africa was one of the big winners of the night at the 2019 edition of the Kalasha International Film and TV Awards, held on November 30 at the Safari Park Hotel, Nairobi after one of its student-produced films, Unbalanced, won the Best Student Short Film award. The movie depicts how university students struggle to maintain a balance between their studies, relationship and work all at once. It also draws attention to the typical life of a university student.

USIU-Africa entered six films in the highly competitive awards event. These were: Mad Love

(Short film), Women of Steel (Documentary), Chroma Combat (Animation), Leo and Mickey (Animation), Degraded Degrees (Documentary) and Unbalanced (Short film). Unbalanced received nominations in three categories namely Best Students' Short Film, Best Students' Feature Film and Best Production Design, Women of Steel received one nomination in the Best Students' Documentary Film. Degraded Degrees and Chroma Kombat (Animation) received one nomination each in the Best Students' Documentary and Best Visual Effects (Industry category) respectively.
